

Oxford University Press continues to be the number one choice for reference works. Analytical reference works remain a core part of our legal publishing – with titles like the New Oxford Companion to Law providing an invaluable single-volume reference point for understanding law in the modern world, and the Oxford Principles of English Law series’ unique distillation of the principles of English law.

To discuss publishing within the General Practice Law list, please contact Roxanne Selby at roxanne.selby@oup.com

NEW EDITION

Oxford Principles of English Law English Private Law (Second Edition) and English Public Law (Second Edition) Second Edition

Edited by Andrew Burrows FBA QC, Norton Rose Professor of Commercial Law, University of Oxford, and David Feldman FBA QC, Rouse Ball Professor of English Law, University of Cambridge

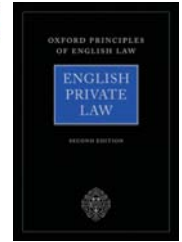

- Brings together in a single set, the second editions of both unique reference works, English Private Law and English Public Law
- Concise, yet lucid and authoritative coverage, which makes this set the ideal starting point for reference and research across the whole of English private and public law
- The ideal quick reference for practitioners to fall back on when a client raises a point outside their normal area of expertise as well as for academics, overseas libraries, and practitioners overseas who want a one stop resource on English private and public law

Oxford Principles of English Law is the essential first point of reference on English law for lawyers in the UK and throughout the world.

Oxford Principles of English Law
978-0-19-955450-8 | £350.00 | 3,400 Pages | October 2009

NEW EDITION

English Private Law Second Edition

Edited by Andrew Burrows QC, Norton Rose Professor of Commercial Law, University of Oxford

“there must be very few of us who would not benefit from, and be much better informed as a result of having a copy of ‘English Private Law’ on our shelves.”

Stephen Watterson, LQR, 124

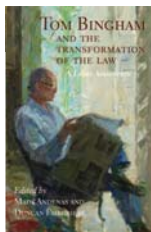

- Acts as a unique reference work providing a high-quality overview of English private law
- Invaluable for overseas practitioners and academics seeking to discover and understand the uncodified principles of English law

The book acts as an accessible first point of reference for practitioners approaching a private law issue for the first time, whilst simultaneously providing a lucid, concise and authoritative overview of all the key areas of private law. Each section is written by an acknowledged expert, using their experience and understanding to provide a clear distillation and analysis of the subject.

Oxford Principles of English Law
978-0-19-922794-5 | Hardback | £220.00
2,096 Pages | December 2007

See page 3 for more on English Public Law.

Tom Bingham and the Transformation of the Law A Liber Amicorum

Edited by Mads Andenas, Director of the Norwegian Centre for Human Rights, and Commissioner for Human Rights for Norway; and Duncan Fairgrieve, Fellow in Comparative Law and Director of the Tort Law Centre at the British Institute of International and Comparative Law

- Takes stock of the transformation of comparative law before Western Courts

This volume collects around fifty essays from colleagues and those influenced by Lord Bingham, from across academia and legal practice. The essays survey Lord Bingham’s pivotal role in the transformations that have taken place in the legal system during his career.

978-0-19-956618-1 | Hardback | £95.00
968 Pages | April 2009

NEW EDITION

Law Firm Strategy Competitive Advantage and Valuation

Stephen Mayson, Professor of Strategy and Director of the Legal Services Policy Institute at the College of Law

- The first in-depth treatment of strategy, competitive advantage, and valuation for the legal services market
- Examines the groundbreaking Legal Services Bill, and its substantial implications for the sector

Law Firm Strategy: Competitive Advantage and Valuation is an invaluable text for those already managing law firms, those looking to compete with existing law firms in the new environment, and those who are not lawyers but find themselves with an opportunity to own, invest in or manage a legal services business.

978-0-19-923174-4 | Hardback | £49.95
400 Pages | September 2007

The Oxford History of the Laws of England, Volumes XI, XII, and XIII 1820-1914

William Cornish, formerly Herchel Smith Professor of Intellectual Property Law, University of Cambridge, J Stuart Anderson, Professor of Law at the University of Otago, Raymond Cocks, Professor of Law at the University of Keele, Michael Lobban, Professor of Legal History at Queen Mary, University of London, Patrick Polden, Professor of Law at Brunel University, and Keith Smith, Professor of Law at Cardiff Law School

- The Series provides not only a history of law, but a history of the impact of law on English society

The Oxford History of the Laws of England
978-0-19-925883-3 | Hardback | £350.00
3,500 Pages | August 2009

Space Law

Dr Paul Stephen Dempsey, Institute of Air & Space Law, McGill University

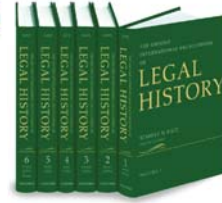

- Presents all national and international space regulations of interest to government personnel, government contractors, academics, and attorneys. The topics covered in this looseleaf are: Remote sensing; Commercial space launch services and international trade; Inventions in outer space and intellectual property; Uses of space-related technology; Dispute resolution; Telecommunications Cooperation in the development of international space; National legislation, regulations, and judicial decisions; International multilateral and bilateral agreements and conventions; U.N. resolutions; and Decrees by international organizations

978-0-379-01292-7 | £694.00
Looseleaf | March 2004 (Oceana TM)

The Oxford International Encyclopaedia of Legal History

6 Volume-set

Edited by Stanley N. Katz, Professor of Public and International Affairs, Woodrow Wilson School of Public & International Affairs, Princeton University

- The first encyclopaedia of law to provide historical and contemporary comparisons of world legal systems in all areas of the world from ancient to modern times
- 1,000 A-Z entries by leading scholars and practitioners
- Each article is fully cross-referenced and accompanied by an up-to-date bibliography
- Also available online from the Oxford Digital Reference Shelf or through Oxford Reference Online offering flexible search and browse functionality and multi-user access

978-0-19-513405-6 | Hardback | £500.00
3,072 Pages | April 2009 (OUP USA)

The New Oxford Companion to Law

Edited by Peter Cane, Professor of Law, Australian National University, and Joanne Conaghan, Professor of Law, Kent Law School

“The book provides unrivalled encyclopaedic coverage of the fundamental major areas of law, from specific laws to crimes, cases, personalities, legal events, the role of law in national and international politics, and law’s underlying philosophy... and all in one place!”

Phillip Taylor

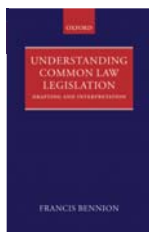

- Provides a unique one-volume guide to every major feature of law and the legal system

Oxford Companions
978-0-19-929054-3 | Hardback | £39.95
1,424 Pages | September 2008

NEW EDITION

Understanding Common Law Legislation Drafting and Interpretation

F.A.R. Bennion, Research Associate, University of Oxford Centre for Socio-Legal Studies

- Explains the system of interpretation common to British, Commonwealth, and United States legislation under the common law
- Shows how the traditional method of statutory interpretation interlocks with the new system under the Human Rights Act (1998)

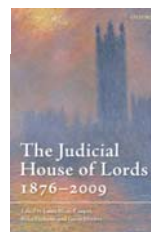

The common law world largely operates through statutes enacted by a country’s democratic legislature. These statutes are drafted and interpreted according to a uniform system of rules, presumptions, principles and canons evolved over centuries by common law judges.

In this book, Francis Bennion distills forty years of his prolific writings on statute law and statutory interpretation to provide valuable guidance on statutory interpretation applicable to all common law jurisdictions.

978-0-19-956410-1 | Paperback | £19.99
268 Pages | May 2009

The Judicial House of Lords 1870-2009

Edited by Louis Blom-Cooper QC, Bencher of the Middle Temple, Gavin Drewry, Professor of Public Administration, Royal Holloway, University of London, and Brice Dickson, Professor of International and Comparative Law, Queen’s University Belfast

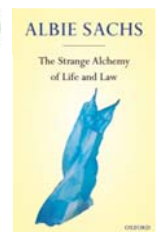

- Offers a comprehensive history of a major judicial institution as it prepares to transfer its position to the new UK Supreme Court
- Includes contributions from over 40 leading lawyers and legal historians, including several current and former members of the House of Lords
- Features perspectives on the influence of the House beyond the UK, including contributions on international law from Rosalyn Higgins, and EU law from Sir Francis Jacobs and David Anderson

This book offers an invaluable overview of the Judicial House of Lords and a major historical record for the UK legal system as it opens the next chapter in its history.

978-0-19-953271-1 | Hardback | £95.00
850 Pages | August 2009

The Strange Alchemy of Life and Law

Albie Sachs, Justice on the Constitutional Court of South Africa

“If I still had responsibility for the English judiciary I would encourage every judge for whom I was responsible to read this book. I am sure it would improve their understanding of what the job really involves and what justice is about.”

Lord Woolf, from the preface

The book provides unique access to an insider’s perspective on modern South Africa, and a rare glimpse into the working of a judicial mind. By juxtaposing life experiences and extracts from judgments, Sachs enables the reader to see the complex and surprising ways in which legal culture transforms subjective experience into objectively reasoned decisions. With rare candour he tells of the difficulties he has when preparing a judgment, of how every judgment is a lie. Rejecting purely formal notions of the judicial role he shows how both reason and passion (concern for protecting human dignity) are required for law to work in the service of justice.

978-0-19-957179-6 | Hardback | £19.99
230 Pages | July 2009