

Oxford University Press is fast developing as a leading publisher of information for the property, trusts, and charities practitioner. With a particular interest in international trusts law, we are establishing a growing portfolio of specialist titles: our flagship journal Trusts & Trustees is the title of choice for the serious international trusts and private client practitioner; and this year sees not just a new edition of Thomas & Hudson's well-regarded practitioner text on the law of trusts, but exciting new works on international trusts law; protectors; and international succession. We are also excited to announce our first publication of The World Trust Survey, now edited by Charles Gothard and Sanjeev Shah – an expanded and enhanced version of the former Trusts & Trustees special issue. In other areas, we look forward to the new edition of Luxton on Charities, and our A Practical Approach Series continues to provide clear practical advice on discrete areas on conveyancing and planning law.

The Law of Trusts

Second Edition

Edited by Geraint Thomas, Professor of Equity & Property Law, Queen Mary, University of London; and Alastair Hudson, Professor of Equity and Law, Queen Mary, University of London

- Comprehensive coverage of both the general principles and the application of trust law in specific areas of legal practice
- Provides a broad focus on practice matters which is often difficult to find in other existing reference texts
- Authoritative and well-respected authors combining practical experience with significant scholarly knowledge

This new edition of The Law of Trusts provides comprehensive coverage of both the general principles and the application of trust law in specific areas of legal practice.

The book has been fully revised and updated to take into account recent legislation and case law from key trust jurisdictions, and to include new material on the rule in Hastings-Bass; different applications of the constructive trust; trustees' liability for breach of trust; the taxation of trusts and estate planning; trusts of pension schemes and financial regulation. It also contains expanded material on areas that have recently grown in importance, such as the emergence of shams and retention of control of trust assets by the settlor; and the growing use of Special Purpose Vehicles in offshore commercial dealings.

The book is split into two parts: Part One considers the general principles involved and includes coverage of: all aspects of express private trusts; the duties and powers of trustees; the variation of trusts; trusts implied by law; and breach of trusts. Part Two puts the general principles to work by covering key practice areas including: insolvency; private client trusts; international trusts; pension funds; financial transactions; commercial transactions; and trusts of land. This is a substantial work written by expert academics who also have experience of practice, supported by contributions from key specialists.

International Succession

Edited by Louis Garb, Solicitor, Louis Garb & Co., and John Wood, Consultant, Herbert, Smith LLP

- Provides a comprehensive survey of succession laws in fifty countries with entries written by experts from each country
- Enables easy cross-referencing with a questionnaire format for each country
- Considers the practical issues arising out of inheritance across multiple jurisdictions
- Supplemented annually in between editions to keep existing country entries fully up-to-date and include a selection of new countries

Increasing numbers of people have connections with one country, but live and work in another, frequently owning property or investments in several countries. As such, international aspects arise in an increasing number of estates. Different countries may have separate arrangements for ownership, taxation, and succession. International Succession equips practitioners with the information necessary to navigate problems involving these different systems.
