

McNae's Essential Law for Journalists

Twentieth Edition

David Banks, Senior Lecturer in Media Law, University of Sunderland, and Member of the NCTJ Law Board, and Mark Hanna, Senior Lecturer, University of Sheffield and Chair of the NCTJ Media Law Examinations Board

McNae's Essential Law for Journalists maintains its reputation as the definitive guide for journalists and students, providing an unrivalled level of accuracy and detail. It is the indispensable, complete and portable resource for the practising journalist or editor; used in newsrooms, court rooms and at public meetings across the country.

Now in its 20th edition and featuring a new author team, this acclaimed book has been made even more user-friendly and accessible. The authors' straightforward language, engaging writing style and use of topical examples clearly explain the law and bring it to life. Featuring key point summaries, clear cross-references, and practical advice, the book continues to meet the needs of every busy journalist and student needing quick answers to the questions they face in their day-to-day work.

Key features

- Endorsed by the National Council for the Training of Journalists as the essential text for students on journalism courses
- Includes significant developments in privacy, contempt, libel, and freedom of information

500 pp July 2009 978-0-19-955645-8 Paperback £19.99

CONTENTS:

1. Introduction; Part I - Crime, courts and tribunals;
2. Crime: coverage prior to any court case; 3. Crime: categories and definitions; 4. Magistrates courts: the most serious cases; 5. Magistrates courts: summary proceedings; 6. Criminal cases in crown courts and higher courts; 7. Juveniles in criminal and ASBO proceedings; 8. Sexual offences; 9. Other court reporting restrictions; 10. Civil courts; 11. Family courts; 12. Open justice and access to court information; 13. Challenging the courts; 14. Coroners' courts; 15. Tribunals and inquires; 16. Contempt of Court; Part II - Defamation and related law; 17. Defamation; 18. What the claimant must prove; 19. Defences; 20. Reynolds defence; 21. Slander, malicious falsehoods and criminal libel; 22. Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974; Part III - Confidentiality, privacy and copyright; 23. Breach of confidence; 24. Privacy; 25. Data Protection Act; 26. Children and privacy; 27. Copyright; Part IV - Information and expression: rights, sources and boundaries; 28. Freedom of Information Act; 29. Other information rights, and access to meetings; 30. Reporting elections; 31. Official secrets; 32. The journalist's sources; 33. Terrorism and counter-terrorism; 34. Inciting hate; Part V - The photographer and the law; 35. The photographer and the law; Part VI - Northern Ireland; 36. Northern Ireland

ONLINE RESOURCE CENTRE

Accompanied by an Online Resource Centre providing updates, multiple choice questions, further reading, web links, and lecture podcasts to reinforce learning, all of which provide a platform for further study and enable students to keep abreast of developments in the law.

www.oxfordtextbooks.co.uk/orc/mcnaes20e/

Media Freedom under the Human Rights Act

Helen Fenwick, Professor of Law, University of Durham, and Gavin Phillipson, Professor of Law, University of Durham

The authors - both leading academics in the field - have drawn on significant comparative decisions to formulate a coherent and provocative critique of the relationship between media law and freedom of expression, and suggested principles which make a significant contribution to the legal discourse surrounding media freedom in the Human Rights Act era.

The book offers comprehensive coverage of major media law topics, including privacy, contempt, copyright, official secrecy and freedom of information, content regulation of broadcasters, and political defamation. The authors provide a scholarly and theoretically informed analysis of this very topical subject, of interest to those studying at all levels and practising in this area of law.

1,133 pp 2006 978-0-40-694289-0 Paperback £33.99

SELECTED CONTENTS:

- Part I - Article 10 European Convention on Human Rights and the Human Rights Act; Part II - The administration of justice and media freedom, fairness of proceedings, the open justice principle; Part III - Media freedom, offence, morality and hate speech; Part IV - Media freedom and the protection of privacy; Part V - Copyright and media freedom; Part VI - Media freedom and political speech

“ Necessary reading for all students of media law... provides fodder for thoughtful and provocative discussion ”
Times Higher Education Supplement

“ This is a splendid book in which the authors bravely tackle a huge subject; the effects of the Human Rights Act have been felt in all areas of media law ”
Media Lawyer

Statutes on Media Law

Second Edition

Richard Caddell and Howard Johnson

Blackstone's Statutes, see series page

416 pp August 2008 978-0-19-923827-9 Paperback £15.99

Blackstone's Guide to the Freedom of Information Act 2000

Third Edition

John Wadham, Jonathan Griffiths, and Kelly Harris

Blackstone's Guide

336 pp 2007 978-0-19-923578-0 Paperback £44.95