

Dear Subscriber,

Important information about the migration of Oxford Constitutions of the World

On September 19th 2013, Oxford University Press (OUP) is migrating three services from Oceana Law Online (Constitutions of the Countries of the World Online, Constitutions of Dependencies and Territories Online, and Constitutions of the United States: National and State Online) to the new Oxford Constitutions of the World, offering a fresh and modern look and feel, enhanced functionality, and greater discoverability.

I am writing to give you further details about the migration, providing information on important maintenance tasks that need to be carried out in order for your users to access services on the new site. This includes:

1. Access methods
2. Updating links and bookmarks
3. Usage statistics
4. Browser compatibility
5. How to promote the new Oxford Constitutions of the World site to your patrons

This information follows on the next pages; please make sure to familiarize yourself with the areas that will impact you and your users.

There will be a detailed list of contact information on the new website directing users who have technical, marketing, and editorial queries onto the relevant contacts within OUP. If you have any queries leading up to the migration please do not hesitate to contact us at onlinemarketing@oup.com.

A full set of Frequently Asked Questions will be available on the new site, and there will be training materials -- including live webinars -- available to you free of charge to help you promote the new site to users inside and outside your library.

Please read through the accompanying notes and feel free to contact us with any questions or concerns. We aim to make the transition to the new site as seamless as possible.

Best wishes,
The Oxford Law Online Team

Please note that the changes listed below will only come into effect when the new websites go live on September 19th 2013. Do not amend your systems until then.

1. Accessing Oxford Constitutions of the World

Please check your current access method from the list below.

Access Method	Information
IP Authentication	Users will continue to have the ability to access the site via IP address authentication. If users have bookmarks set up linking to specific content, all URLs will re-direct to the site homepage.
Referring URL	You can continue to access the site via referring URL. Simply log in to your Oceana portal as usual and click on the link for Oxford Constitutions of the World. This will redirect you to the new homepage at http://oxcon.oup.com. If you have set up any links to specific content or other pages via referring URL you will need to change these to continue to be authenticated. Please contact us at onlinesubscriptions@oup.com for assistance. If you change the location of your referring link, you will need to let us know so we can update our records.
Athens	To access via Athens, follow the link on the homepage for 'Login with Athens/Access Management Federation'. Please contact your Athens Administrator or onlinesubscriptions@oup.com if you have any questions.
Shibboleth	Accessing the site through Shibboleth will remain the same. If you wish to activate access by this method via a Shibboleth Access Management Federation, please contact us at onlinesubscriptions@oup.com. WAYFless URLs can be set up for you on request.
EZ Proxy	If you currently offer access via EZProxy, you will need to update your ezproxy.cfg file with the new URL. The new site will be located at http://oxcon.oup.com. You may also need to update the site in your proxy server(s) to: Title: Oxford Constitutions of the World URL: http://oxcon.oup.com Domain: ouplaw.com Please contact us at onlinesubscriptions@oup.com if you need assistance.
Username and Password	You can continue accessing via username and password by entering your details in the Oceana portal, or when prompted to do so from non-authenticated pages within the site.

2. Updating links and bookmarks

The new homepage can be found at <http://oxcon.oup.com>

We are unable to provide a direct mapping of entry level and public page content from the old site to the new, so the user will need to update bookmarks manually by visiting the new site and locating the new pages. We advise that users update their bookmarks as soon as they can after the launch.

Public Pages: all public "information" pages on the old site will be improved and transferred to the new site; thereafter, users will not be able to access public pages on the old sites.

3. Usage Statistics

COUNTER statistics will be available for OCW customers.

Please contact onlinesubscriptions@oup.com should you have any questions regarding your COUNTER statistics.

4. Browser compatibility

All current standard web browsers will be supported. These include:

- Internet Explorer for Windows (version 8 and higher)
- Firefox Mac and Windows (versions 8 and higher)
- Safari Mac and Windows (versions 5 and higher)
- Google Chrome Mac and Windows (versions 17 and higher)

5. How to Promote the New Oxford Constitutions of the World Site to your Patrons

Oxford University Press is here to help you through this transition; below are just a few ways that we can help you market the new Oxford Constitutions of the World site to your patrons. Please contact us if we can be of any further assistance.

- In-library support – A variety of promotional items are available to you free of charge to help you promote the new Oxford Constitutions of the World site within your institution. Please contact onlinemarketing@oup.com for more information.
- Training opportunities – we are pleased to offer live demonstrations and training sessions hosted by our product expert, introducing you to the new site. Demonstrations are conducted using a service called WebEx – all you need is a phone and a computer with an internet connection.

On-site training opportunities can also be arranged where necessary. Please contact us at online.training@oup.com for additional details.

- Guided Tour – a guided tour will be available on the site at launch
- Increase your usage – we would be happy to provide you with an email template, which you can then use to let your faculty know that Oxford Constitutions of the World has launched. Please contact us at onlinemarketing@oup.com for further information.