

Name _____

How much? How many?

A singular noun stands for one thing. A plural noun stands for more than one.

crocodile noun (plural crocodiles)
a large reptile living in hot countries, with a thick skin, long tail, and huge jaws

a Write down the plural form of each of these animals. Check the spelling in the dictionary, if you are unsure:

rabbit giraffe goose tiger mouse fox

b The usual rule for making a noun plural is to add -s at the end, but this is not always how it is done.

Can you find the rule for these nouns?

glass dress cross harness bus
branch bush itch stitch watch crash

.....

c These nouns are all plural. Write down their singular forms, and say how they are all alike.

pennies nappies parties cities memories flies

d Nouns ending in -o are the most difficult to remember.

Look up the plurals of these to find out why:

piano solo banjo flamingo zoo
potato tomato volcano mosquito echo
