

When people see the red man, they stop. When people see the green man, they can cross the road.

"I'm sick of these traffic lights," the red man says one day.
"So am I," says the green man.
"Let's go on holiday."

